Pursuant to Rules 26 and 33 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, defendants Twentieth Century Fox Film Corporation ("Fox Film"), including its unit, Twentieth Century Fox Television ("Fox Television") incorrectly named herein as Twentieth Century Fox Television, Inc., Fox Broadcasting Company ("Fox Broadcasting"), Twentieth Century Fox Home Entertainment LLC ("Fox Home Entertainment"), formerly known as Twentieth Century Fox Home Entertainment, Inc. (referred to herein collectively as the "Fox Defendants" or "Fox") hereby collectively respond and, by their attorneys, object to Plaintiff's First Set of Interrogatories (the "Interrogatories") to each of them as follows:

GENERAL OBJECTIONS

1. Fox objects to each Interrogatory to the extent it calls for or could be construed to call for information which is protected or privileged from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, attorney work-product, or related doctrines. Inadvertent production of any privileged document or information otherwise immune from discovery shall not be deemed a waiver of any applicable privilege or work-product protection.

2. Fox objects to each Interrogatory to the extent it calls for or could be construed to call for the production of proprietary or confidential information. Fox will produce such information, if it is otherwise responsive, only upon the execution and entry of a mutually acceptable Protective Order regarding confidentiality.

3. Fox objects to each Interrogatory on the grounds that it imposes an undue burden or expense upon Fox, and imposes upon Fox obligations greater than those authorized by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and the Local Rules of the District. The responses and objections herein are made in accordance with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and the Local Rules only.

4. Fox objects to each Interrogatory to the extent it seeks information that is outside of its knowledge, possession, custody and/or control.

5. Fox objects to each Interrogatory to the extent it seeks documents or information which are subject to certain confidentiality provisions between Fox and/or its affiliate companies and others and which may not be disclosed absent the consent of the parties to such contracts. Fox objects to each Interrogatory to the extent that it purports to require Fox to disclose information constituting or containing, in whole or in part, trade secrets, confidential or proprietary business information, or nonpublic financial information relating or pertaining to Fox and/or its affiliated companies, and their past or present employees, representatives or agents, or third party. In this regard, the Interrogatories: (a) are overbroad, unreasonable, unduly burdensome, vexatious, oppressive and harassing; and (b) seek information that is protected from disclosure under federal and state law. To the extent that the Interrogatories seek information that invades or implicates the rights of nonparties to this litigation, Fox may be under a legal obligation not to disclose such information unless and until such nonparties have had an adequate opportunity to object to the disclosure of such information and to assert their rights in the confidentiality of any information. Accordingly, Fox will not undertake to provide any such information unless and until, inter alia, the rights of such third parties have been adequately addressed.

6. Fox objects to each Interrogatory on the grounds that it calls for or could be construed to call for any information generated by or at the direction of Fox's counsel in anticipation of litigation.

7. Fox objects to the Interrogatories, and specifically to the "Definitions," on the grounds that the definition of "Fox Defendants" in paragraph 8 of that section is overbroad, unduly burdensome, unreasonable and oppressive with respect to its inclusion of any "predecessors, parents, subsidiaries, affiliates, . . . and any representative of any kind." Fox expressly disavows any obligation to respond to the Interrogatories beyond those posed under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and except as otherwise set forth expressly herein, for purposes of further responding to the Interrogatories, Fox will not undertake to respond on behalf of any person or entity other than the Fox entities identified above.

8. Fox objects to the Interrogatories to the extent that they fail to specify the information sought with reasonable particularity.

9. Fox objects to each Interrogatory on the grounds that it calls for the production of documents or information that: (a) is obtainable from some other source that is more convenient, less burdensome, or less expensive and or (b) is already in Plaintiff's possession, custody, or control.

10. Fox objects to the Interrogatories to the extent that they are vague, ambiguous and overly broad and therefore require Fox, to the best of its ability, to make a subjective determination as to what information or documents are being sought.

11. Fox objects to each Interrogatory on the grounds that it seeks information that is not relevant, material, or reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of relevant, material, or admissible evidence.

12. Fox's Objections and Responses to the Interrogatories are not intended to be and shall not be deemed an admission of the matters stated, implied or assumed by any or all of the Interrogatories. Fox's responses made herein, and the information produced pursuant hereto, shall not constitute a waiver of any objection by Fox to the competency, relevancy, materiality, privilege, or admissibility of any of the Interrogatories, responses, or the content or subject matter of any of them.

13. Fox's investigation of information and documents that may be responsive to the Interrogatories is continuing, and therefore, it reserves the right to amend, correct, supplement and/or modify any and all of its Responses herein if in the course of this action it becomes aware of additional information and/or documents that are responsive to these Interrogatories.

SPECIFIC OBJECTIONS AND RESPONSES

Subject to and without waiving any of the foregoing General Objections, which Fox hereby incorporates into each response given below, Fox responds to the Interrogatories as follows:

INTERROGATORY NO. 1:

Identify all persons with knowledge concerning the creation, production and post-production of the Episode, including without limitation all persons with knowledge concerning the story told in that episode, and briefly describe the nature of each person's knowledge.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 1:

Subject to and without waiver of the foregoing General Objections, each of which is expressly incorporated herein, Fox further objects to Interrogatory No. 1 on the following grounds: First, the interrogatory is overbroad, unduly burdensome and unreasonable, to the extent that it seeks information more readily available or equally available to Plaintiff from other, publicly available sources, including the credits of the episode of the television show "The Family Guy" entitled "When You Wish Upon a Weinstein" (the "Episode"). Second, the interrogatory is ambiguous, unduly burdensome, overbroad and seeks information that is neither relevant to the subject matter of this action nor reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence by requesting, for example, the identification of numerous persons who had no material role in the creation of the "I Need a Jew" song or the Episode. On its face, the interrogatory calls for the identification of, among other persons, every person in the general public who ever viewed the Episode. Third, the interrogatory is vague and ambiguous, for among other reasons, because there is no explanation as to who Plaintiff considers to be "creation", "production" or "post-production" staff.

Seth MacFarlane	Executive Producer, Writer and Voice Actor
Ricky Blitt	Writer of Episode

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 2:

Subject to and without waiver of the foregoing General Objections, each of which is expressly incorporated herein, Fox further objects to Interrogatory No. 2 on the following grounds: The interrogatory is vague and ambiguous in its use of the terms "wrote" and "contribution." Subject to and without waiver of any of the foregoing General Objections and the foregoing specific objections, Fox responds to the interrogatory as follows:

Ricky Blitt

Seth MacFarlane

INTERROGATORY NO. 3:

Identify all persons with knowledge concerning the creation, production and post-production of "I Need a Jew," including without limitation all persons with knowledge concerning any analysis or discussion of the song as a parody and/or satire of "When You Wish Upon a Star," as admitted in paragraph 3 of the Answer, and briefly describe the nature of each person's knowledge.

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 3:

Subject to and without waiver of the foregoing General Objections, each of which is expressly incorporated herein, Fox further objects to Interrogatory No. 3 on the following grounds: First, Fox objects to this interrogatory because it calls for or can be construed to call for information which is protected or privileged from disclosure under the attorney-client privilege, attorney work-product, or related doctrines. Second, the interrogatory is vague, ambiguous, overbroad, unreasonable, and unduly burdensome in purporting to require identification of "all persons" who ever discussed the Song being a parody and/or satire of "When You Wish Upon a Star." Third, the interrogatory is vague and ambiguous in its use of the terms "knowledge," "analysis" and "discussion."

Subject to and without waiver of any of the foregoing General Objections and the foregoing specific objections, Fox responds to the interrogatory as follows:

Subject to and without waiver of the foregoing General Objections, each of which is expressly incorporated herein, Fox further objects to Interrogatory No. 5 on the following grounds: First, the interrogatory is vague and ambiguous in its use of the terms “using ... as a basis,” “music,” “knowledge,” “purpose” or “reason.” Second, the interrogatory is overly broad and unduly burdensome

Second, the interrogatory is vague and ambiguous in its use of the terms "knowledge," "creation" or "use and rights clearance."

Subject to and without waiver of any of the foregoing General Objections and the foregoing specific objections, Fox responds to the interrogatory as follows:

Second, the interrogatory overly broad, and unduly burdensome. Third, the interrogatory seeks information that is neither relevant to the subject matter of this action nor reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

Subject to and without waiver of any of the foregoing General Objections and the foregoing specific objections, Fox responds to the interrogatory as follows:

RESPONSE TO INTERROGATORY NO. 9:

Subject to and without waiver of the foregoing General Objections, each of which is expressly incorporated herein, Fox further objects to Interrogatory No. 9 on the following grounds: First, the interrogatory is vague and ambiguous in its use of the terms “to air,” “re-run,” “knowledge” and “decision.” Second, the interrogatory seeks information that is neither relevant to the subject matter of this action nor reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence. Third, the interrogatory is overly broad, and unduly burdensome.

The interrogatory, which seeks information relating solely to the issue of damages, is premature because the initial scheduling conference in this matter has yet to be held and the Court has not yet been given the chance to rule on the bifurcation request. Defendants will not provide information relating to damages discovery, if at all, until after the Court so orders on the bifurcation request.

Second, Defendants have requested that there be bifurcation of discovery on liability and damages in this matter. The interrogatory, which seeks information relating solely to the issue of damages, is premature because the initial scheduling conference in this matter has yet to be held and the Court has not yet been given the chance to rule on the bifurcation request. Third, the interrogatory is vague, ambiguous, over broad, not relevant and seeks confidential financial information. Defendants will not provide information relating to damages discovery, if at all, until after the Court so orders on the bifurcation request.

INTERROGATORY NO. 12:

Identify all persons with knowledge concerning communications among or between any of the Defendants and any other persons concerning “When You Wish Upon a Star,” the Episode or “I Need a Jew,” including but without limitation communications concerning Plaintiff’s copyright infringement claim and briefly describe the nature of each person’s knowledge.

have ever discussed anything relating to a song or a TV episode over more than a 7 year period. Second, the interrogatory seeks information that is neither relevant to the subject matter of this action nor reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

INTERROGATORY NO. 13:

Identify all fact witnesses you may or intend to present at any phase of this proceeding, whether by affidavit, declaration, deposition, live testimony or otherwise and briefly describe the nature of that person's testimony.
